

SAP Concur by the Numbers

Processing expense reports isn't anyone's ideal way to spend the day, especially if your organization still uses a manual solution.

Are employees tracking down paper receipts? Or manually entering data into spreadsheets? Tasks like these are repetitive and cumbersome and can lead to lack of visibility into employee spend, loss of productivity and employee frustration. Ultimately, this lack of efficiency in your travel and expense process could be costing you in more ways than one.

Current Processes are Cumbersome

In a recent GovLoop survey of 411 public sector employees, it became clear that there are challenges with the current processes, yet changes in technology and in the spending behavior of employees are rapidly evolving. Can your organization afford to be playing a constant state of catch-up?
